CHAPTER XIX.

THE highway between La Guayra and Caracas was exceedingly rough and difficult and at best barely practicable for the stoutest wagons. The road wound around the mountains for a distance of perhaps twenty-five miles, although as the crow flies it was not more than five miles between the two cities. Between them, however, the tremendous ridge of mountains rose to a height of nearly 10,000 feet. Starting from the very level of the sea, the road crossed the divide through a depression at an altitude of about 6,000 feet and descended thence some 3,000 feet to the valley in which lay Caracas.

This was the road over which Alvarado and Mercedes had come and on the lower end of which they had been captured. It was now barred for the young soldier by the detachment of buccaneers under young Teach and L'Oloniois, who were instructed to hold the pass where the road crossed through or over the mountains. Owing to the configuration of the pass, those fifty could hold it against a thousand. It was not probable that news of the sack of La Guayra would reach Caracas before Morgan descended upon it, but to prevent the possibility or to check any movement of troops toward the shore it was necessary to hold that road. The man who held it was in position to protect or strike either city at will. It was, in fact, the key to the position.

Morgan, of course, counted upon surprising the fortified capital as he had the seaport town. It was the boast of the Spaniards that they needed no walls about Caracas since nature had provided them with the mighty rampart of the mountain range, which could not be surmounted save in that one place. With that one place in the buccaneer's possession, Caracas could only rely upon the number and valor of her defenders. To Morgan's onslaught could only be opposed a rampart of blades and hearts. Had there been a state-of-war in existence it is probable that the viceroy would have fortified and garrisoned the pass, but under present conditions nothing had been done. As soon as a messenger from Teach informed Morgan that the pass had been occupied and that all seemed quiet in Caracas, a fact which had been learned by some bold scouting on the farther side of the mountain, he was perfectly easy as to the work of the morning. He would fall upon the unwalled town at night and carry everything by a coup de main.

Fortunately for the Spaniards in this instance, it happened that there was another way of access to the valley of Caracas from La Guayra. Directly up and over the mountain there ran a narrow and difficult trail, known first to the savages and afterward to wandering smugglers or masterless outlaws. Originally and until the Spaniards made the wagon road it had been the only way of communication between the two towns, but the path was so difficult and so dangerous that it had long since been abandoned even by the classes that had first discovered and traveled it. These vagabonds had formerly kept it in such a state of repair that it was fairly passable, but no work had been done on it for nearly 100 years. Indeed, in some places the way had been designedly obliterated by the Spanish government about a century since. By nearly all the inhabitants its very existence had been forgotten.

It was this trail that Alvarado determined to ascend. The difficulties in his way even under the most favorable circumstances might well have appalled the stoutest heart, but he maintained the steady climb, his feet finding their way in the darkness where they would be increased a thousandfold.

Along the base of the mountain the trail was not difficult, although it was pitch dark under the trees which, except where the mighty cliffs rose sheer in the air like huge buttresses of the range, covered the mountains for the whole expanse of their great altitude. Alvarado made his way upward with out trouble or accident at first, and he made good progress for several hours in spite of darkness.

It had been long past midnight when he started, and it was not until day-break that he passed above the familiar and not untraveled way and entered upon the most perilous part of his journey. The gray dawn revealed to him the appalling dangers he must face.

Sometimes clinging with iron grasp to pinnacles of rock he swung himself along the side of some terrific precipice, where the slightest misstep meant a rush into eternity upon the rocks a thousand feet below. Sometimes he had to spring far across great gorges in the mountains that had once been bridged by mighty trunks of trees, long since moldered away. Sometimes there was nothing for him to do but to scramble down the steep sides of some dark canyon and force himself through cold torrential mountain streams that almost swept him from his feet. Again his path lay over cliffs green with moss and wet with spray, which afforded most precarious support to his grasping hands or slipping feet. Sometimes he had to force a way through thick tropic undergrowth that tore his clothing into rags.

Had he undertaken the ascent in a mere spirit of adventure he would have turned back long since from the dangers he met and surmounted with such hardship and difficulty. With the pale, beautiful face of Mercedes to lead him, and by contrast the hateful, cruel countenance of Morgan to force him, ever before his vision, the man plunged upward with unnatural strength, braving dangers, taking chances, doing the impossible—and Providence watched over him.

It was perhaps 9 o'clock in the morning when he reached the summit—breathless, exhausted, unhealed, weaponless, unarmed—and looked down on the white city of Caracas set in its verdant environment like a handful of pearls in a goblet of emerald. He had wondered if he would be in time to intercept the viceroy, and his strained heart leaped in his throat as he saw, a few miles beyond the town on the road winding toward the Orinoco country, a body of men. The sunlight glancing from polished helmets or pointed lances proclaimed that they were soldiers. He would be in time, thank God!

With renewed vigor he scrambled down the side of the mountain—and this descent fortunately happened to be gentle and easy—and, running with headlong speed, he soon drew near the gate of the palace. He dashed into it with reckless haste, indifferent to the protests of the guard, who did not at first recognize in the tattered, bloody, wounded, soiled specimen of humanity the gay and brilliant commander. He made himself known at once and was confined in his surmise that the viceroy had set forth with his troops early in the morning and was still in reaching distance on the road.

Directing the best horse in the stables to be brought to him, after snatching a hasty meal while it was being sad-died and not even taking time to reclothe himself he mounted and galloped after. An hour later he burst through the ranks of the little army and reined in his horse before the astonished viceroy, who did not recognize in this sorry cavalier his favorite officer, and stern words of reproof for the unceremonious interruption of the horseman broke from his lips until they were checked by the first word from the young captain.

"Morgan and his buccaneers have taken La Guayra and sacked it!" gasped Alvarado hoarsely.

"Morgan! That accursed scourge again in arms? And my daughter?"

"A prisoner! For God's love, turn back the men!"

"Instantly!" cried the viceroy. He was burning with anxiety to hear more, but he was too good a soldier to hesitate as to the first thing to be done. Raising himself in his stirrups, he gave a few sharp commands, and the little army, which had halted when he had, faced about and began the return march to Caracas at full speed. As soon as their maneuvers had been completed and they moved off, the viceroy, who rode at the head with Alvarado and the gentlemen of his suit, broke into anxious questioning.

"Now, captain, but that thou art a skilled soldier I could not believe thy tale."

"My lord, I swear it is true!"

"And you left Donna Mercedes a prisoner?" interrupted De Tobar, who had been consumed with anxiety even greater than that of the viceroy.

"Alas, 'tis so!"

"How can that be when you are free, senior?"

"Let me question my own officer, De Tobar," resumed the viceroy peremptorily, "and silence, all else we learn nothing. Now, Alvarado, what is this strange tale of thine?"

In his eagerness the viceroy reined in his horse, and the officers and men, even the soldiers, stopped also and crowded around the narrator while he told the tale of the sack of La Guayra and the capture of Mercedes and himself.

HE'S HAD ENOUGH

It Is Said That Engineer Wallace Is Done With Panama.

Colon, June 20.—It was publicly announced that John F. Wallace, chief engineer of the canal zone, who sailed for the United States June 16, was going home by order of Secretary Taft for the purpose of a consultation on important matters prior to the sailing of the secretary for the Philippines, and that he was not likely to return to the isthmus until his annual report had been written and he had secured a rest.

Since the departure of Mr. Wallace, however, it has been said in influential circles that he does not intend to return to the isthmus to resume his position of chief engineer, but that he has gone home to confer with Secretary Taft on the subject of his resignation. The fact that Mr. Wallace went home accompanied by his wife and his two secretaries seems in some quarters to lend credence to the rumor that he does not intend to return.

Marriage of President's Cousin.

Boston, June 20.—Orme Clarke of London and Miss Elfrida Roosevelt, cousin to President Roosevelt, were married at Emmanuel church yesterday afternoon by Bishop William Lawrence, in the presence of a large number of prominent Bostonians.

The battleship Tennessee when completed will be sent by the government to New Orleans, where she will receive a magnificent silver service to be presented on behalf of the citizens of Tennessee.

NOT MUCH DOING

Diplomacy Moving Slowly in the Great Peace Game.

NO NEW DEVELOPMENTS

Affairs Now Rest Pending the Formal Announcement of the Plenipotentiaries of the Belligerents.

Washington Receives Messages of Gratification From Both Tokio and St. Petersburg.

Washington, June 20.—Practically no new developments are observable today in the negotiations for peace between Russia and Japan. President Roosevelt for a day or two has been deeply engrossed in other matters, and while he has not for a moment lost sight of the arrangements for bringing together the far Eastern belligerents, he has realized fully that the next move in the great game of diplomacy now being played was with the contending nations themselves. That move is the selection of envoys to represent them at the Washington conference.

LYDD GRISCOME, JR.

While the same reserve that hitherto has characterized the personal exchanges which have taken place was manifested about yesterday's interviews of Ambassador Cassini and Minister Takahira with the president, it is known that they were not of great importance. Each of the diplomats presented to the president official advice from his government expressive of the satisfaction felt at both St. Petersburg and Tokio over the selection of Washington as the seat of the peace conference.

The president had already been advised by Ambassador Meyer at St. Petersburg and Minister Griscome at Tokio of the cordial feeling felt toward Washington by the Russian and Japanese governments. The personal assurances of that feeling conveyed to him by the representatives of both powers served simply to accentuate the official advice received from this government's officials. Whether the conference will actually sit in Washington or not has not been determined of course, as that is a detail which will be left to the envoys themselves by their respective governments. It is said that no decision will be reached on that point until the conference meet here and organize. If the weather in Washington at that time should be unfavorable to continued sittings in this city, it will be within the authority of the plenipotentiaries to adjourn to some other city.

During the past few days the president has received as many as a hundred letters suggesting various cities in the country as desirable places for holding conferences. It can be said that the president will not permit himself to be drawn into the discussion of this subject, and the government will not attempt to interfere in any way with the choice of the conferees on a place of holding their conferences. It is regarded as probable that this city will be at least the scene of the beginning and the ending of the conference, although the intervening sessions may be held elsewhere. It will be known in diplomatic history, therefore, as already stated, as the Washington conference, and the convention, if one be formulated, will be the treaty of Washington.

As has been reiterated in these dispatches, Japan will not ask for an armistice, insisting that the initiative must come from Russia. The optimistic reports of the last few days received in St. Petersburg from the front have greatly raised the hopes of the Russians that a rapid victory is near, and the war party is opposed to sending a request for an armistice at this time. Japan is not at all desirous of a temporary cessation of hostilities, for between now and the beginning of the rainy season in August, Oyama is ordered to accomplish great achievements in Manchuria. However, after the plenipotentiaries have been appointed the informal discussion of an armistice will be resumed, and in case the president takes the initiative in suggesting a limited truce, both belligerents will give the matter serious consideration.

War Party Still in Business.

St. Petersburg, June 20.—The war party has by no means surrendered. On the contrary, backed by the military element, it is making a concerted effort to dissuade the emperor from concluding peace. Even with the two armies already clenching, members of the war party are filling St. Petersburg and Peterhof with optimistic views, and General L'nevitch and his lieutenants are reinforcing their arguments with rosy reports of the strategic situation. Many Russian correspondents at the front, evidently inspired from St. Petersburg, are flooding their papers with dispatches in the same strain.

LANDIS' LAURELS

With Poetic License a Hoosier Bard Creates New Figure.

Indianapolis, June 20.—Congressman Charles Berry Landis of the Ninth district was here today calling on friends. He said that he is spending the summer on a farm he has purchased near Delphi. His unburned face and healthful appearance indicate that he is spending a lot of time in the open. Apropos of his venture as a farmer, James B. Elmore, famed as the bard of the Alamo, has just written a poem dedicated to the farmer of Delphi, as he terms Landis. The following verse, the last in the poem, shows the tenor of the contribution:

"How sweet the dream that Jacob had Whose ladder reached the sky;
You ought to see the farmer lad
Each round and round go by.
Great pumpkins of enormous size
Will crown his sweating brow;
The bugs and worms and ants look wise
When Charley goes to plow."

The bard's suggestion that Landis' brow will be crowned with enormous pumpkins may not strike the congressman's lieutenants as the proper headgear for their favorite, but it is said that Elmore is very much satisfied with his effort.

Chairman Metzger of the Republican city committee has appointed the members of the board of primary election commissioners who will have charge of the primary June 30, when the municipal ticket will be nominated. The personnel is favorable to the nomination of Frank D. Stalnaker for mayor. Chairman Metzger, however, declared that he selected men that he knows will give all the candidates a square deal. The commissioners make up the ticket and canvass the election returns. Stalnaker's name will be at the head. It is said that he filed his notice of candidacy ahead of Charles A. Bookwalter, his opponent, and accordingly he is entitled to first place. It is conceded that first place on the ticket is generally worth several hundred votes. Stalnaker is making inroads on the negro vote, which it was supposed Bookwalter had clinched. Rev. L. M. Hagood, a colored Methodist presiding elder, has called on the negroes to stand for Stalnaker. He declared that Bookwalter as mayor catered to the vicious element of the whites and blacks and that the better element of the negro race should vote for Stalnaker. The latter's managers claim that the church-going negroes are for him and that the crap-shooters and cheap-sport contingent of the negroes are for Bookwalter. The latter's supporters are confident that a majority of the negroes will vote for him.

The two words "Gut Heil" adorn hundreds of windows in business houses and residences. They are a token of welcome to the incoming members of the German turner societies, who will be here this week for the North American gymnastic festival which promises to be an historic event of the kind. It would not be surprising if some records are smashed when the German athletes meet on the field at the state fair grounds the latter part of the week. The fatherland has sent a picked team of nine men to contest with the best German athletes of this country. They are being feted here by the German brotherhood, but tomorrow they will go into camp and prepare for the tests of strength. Thousands of crimson and white flags adorn the downtown streets and are waving a welcome to the incoming delegations. The city has raised $25,000 for the entertainment of the visitors.

The board of trade last night accepted a proposition from the Improved Order Knights of Pythias to dispose of its property at Maryland street and Capitol avenue for $50,000, and decided to lease the Pyle house corner, Ohio and Meridian streets, for ninety-nine years and erect a fine $70,000 office building. The board has had the Pyle house site under consideration for some time. The new building will mark one of the greatest improvements in the business district.

PEACEFUL CONFERENCE

Talk Will Take the Place of Bullets In Serious Complication Between Hereditary Enemies.

Decision to Hold International Conference on Moroccan Situation Relieves the Tension.

Paris, June 20.—An international conference for the consideration of the affairs of Morocco is now practically assured as the result of the conversation between Premier Rouvier and Prince Radolin, the German ambassador, and attention is now directed to defining the scope of the conference. Details are being rapidly arranged, and the officials expect to be able to announce the plans for the conference in the course of a week.

This result, after the severe strain which tested the diplomatic resources of both governments, has the effect of relieving the tension, the officials of the foreign office and the diplomats of the German embassy agreeing that an amicable adjustment is near at hand. Although the acceptance of the conference gives a certain measure of success to German diplomacy, yet M. Rouvier emerges from the controversy with the advantages of having brought Germany to define exactly the scope of the conference and so to rid it of the objections of being a menace to French interests.

Although the basis of the conference has not yet been settled, it is understood that the two governments substantially agree on some of the many features involved.

Germany has suspected that France had designs on the sovereignty of Morocco, but the negotiations disclosed that France had not questioned this sovereignty. Similarly it was disclosed that France had not designed to interrupt the present territorial or political status quo of Morocco. This appears to have been one of Germany's chief apprehensions, as any change in Morocco's status quo might involve an ultimate French protectorate similar to that over Tunis.

With both governments favorable to the sovereignty of Morocco and to her territorial and political status quo, it remains for the conference to adjust the equality of commercial rights, as Germany desires this assurance from an international conference instead of through the operations of the Anglo-French agreement. Therefore the conference is not likely to consider changes in the political status of Morocco, but rather international reforms and commercial privileges.

A dispatch from Metz says that the Sixteenth German army corps is showing less activity than the Twentieth and Sixth French army corps, as the Sixteenth German army corps has been continually on a war footing and is prepared for immediate mobilization. The dispatch says that the inspection of troops has been active in both countries. However, this activity has been less marked recently, as all eyes have been turned toward Paris in the expectation of a favorable result of the diplomatic negotiations.

Standard Back in Field.

Independence, Kan., June 20.—It is announced that the Standard Oil company will resume work in the Kansas oil field and will relay the pipe line to the heavy oil district and pay 25 cents a barrel for all oil grading between 22 and 29 degrees in quality. This is the most important announcement made in the oil field since the Standard company stopped in Kansas following the stringent laws passed by the last legislature. The order restores the conditions in the Kansas fields that existed prior to the meeting of the legislature.

Civic Association Protests.

Chicago, June 20.—The Civic Federation of Chicago at its biennial meeting adopted a special report made by the executive committee advising against municipal ownership. The report adopted commits the organization against either operation or ownership of public utilities by the city, the reason given being that the city's operation of Chicago's waterworks system has not been successful enough to warrant a belief that the city could successfully operate a streetcar system or other public utilities.

A Searching Investigation.

New York, June 20.—A new and important investigation of the affairs of the Equitable Life Assurance Society is to be begun at once. Paul Morton, the newly elected chairman of the board of directors, wants to know exactly how things are with the society, and has commissioned chartered accountants to examine every detail of the work, investments and relations of the society.

Caught at the Crossing.

Bloomington, Ill., June 20.—A. J. Barr, a prominent lawyer of this city, and Miss May Herbert were struck by a Chicago & Alton interurban train one mile east of Normal and were instantly killed.

WOMEN WHO CHARM

HEALTH IS THE FIRST ESSENTIAL

It Helps Women to Win and Hold Men's Admiration, Respect and Love

Woman's greatest gift is the power to inspire admiration, respect, and love. There is a beauty in health which is more attractive to men than mere regularity of feature.

To be a successful wife, to retain the love and admiration of her husband, should be a woman's constant study. At the first indication of ill-health, painful or irregular menstruation, headache or backache, secure Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and begin its use.

Mrs. Chas. F. Brown, Vice-President Mothers' Club, 21 Cedar Terrace, Hot Springs, Ark., writes:

"For nine years I dragged through a miserable existence, suffering with inflammation and falling of the womb, and worn out with pain and weariness. I once noticed a statement by a woman suffering as I was, but who had been cured by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and I determined to try it. At the end of three months I was a different woman. Every one remarked about it, and my husband fell in love with me all over again. Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound built up my entire system, cured the womb trouble, and I felt like a new woman. I am sure it will make every suffering woman strong, well and happy, as it has me."

Women who are troubled with painful or irregular menstruation, backache, bloating (or flatulence), leucorrhoea, falling, inflammation or ulceration of the uterus, ovarian troubles, that "bearing-down" feeling, dizziness, faintness, indigestion, or nervous prostration may be restored to perfect health and strength by taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

The twenty-second annual convention of the American Institute of Electrical Engineers has convened at Asheville, N. C.

Over $150,000 damage was done to crops and farm buildings by a tornado that passed through Dane and Iowa counties, Wisconsin.

The annual convention of the International Printing Pressmen's and Assistants' Union of North America is in session at San Francisco.

The Fredonia National bank, Fredonia, N. Y., was closed by order of the comptroller of the currency on information received from the examiner that it is involved.

THE FARMER FAILS

In health just as does the city-man, and he fails commonly from the same cause, "stomach trouble." The farm is a wholesome place to live; the farmer's life is a healthy life; but no external advantages can overcome the effects of a diseased stomach. When the stomach and its allied organs of digestion and nutrition are diseased, the food eaten is imperfectly digested and assimilated, and the consequent loss of nutrition results in physical debility.

Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery cures diseases of the stomach and other organs of digestion and nutrition, and enables the perfect digestion and assimilation of food. It builds up the body with sound flesh and solid muscle. "I used ten bottles of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery and several vials of his Pleasant Pellets a year ago this spring, and have had no trouble with indigestion since," writes Mr. W. T. Thompson, of Townsend, Broadwater Co., Montana. "Words fail to tell how thankful I am for the relief as I had suffered so much and it seemed that the doctors could do me no good. I got down in weight to one hundred and twenty-five pounds, and was not able to work at all. Now I weigh nearly one hundred and sixty pounds and do a day's work on the farm. I have recommended your medicine to several, and shall always have a good word to say for Dr. Pierce and his medicines."

The sole motive for substitution is to permit the dealer to make the little more profit paid by the sale of less meritorious medicines. He gains; you lose; therefore accept no substitute for "Golden Medical Discovery."

Bookmakers Operate in Face of Anti-Betting Regulations.

St. Louis, June 20.—Despite Governor Folk's order to the sheriff of St. Louis county directing him to arrest all principals and accessories found violating the anti-betting law, which went into effect last Saturday, no arrests were made yesterday at Delmar racetrack, although six so-called bookmakers did a fair business. A deputy sheriff was present until after the last race. R. L. Johnston, prosecuting attorney of St. Louis county, arrived just before the last race and carefully watched the transactions between the bettors and bookmakers, but did not say what action he might take.

Soldiers Resent Change.

Paris, June 20.—After a record of five and a half centuries in the French army the drum has had to give way to the bugle as being handier, smarter and easier to carry. We had several doctors but they did him no good. One bottle of this remedy cured him. as our neighbors will testify. I thank God for so valuable a medicine." For sale by C. W. Milhous.

SEEING AMERICA.

Wonderful Scenic Trip Across Rocky Mountains to Oregon Exposition.

In certain respects the excursions to the Lewis and Clark Centennial Exposition, Portland, Oregon, via Pennsylvania Lines, beginning May 23rd and continuing through the summer, offer advantages never before presented to Exposition visitors. The trip to the Oregon Exposition, in addition to the attractions of the Lewis and Clark Exposition, includes the journey through the scenic wonderland of the Rocky Mountains and the Cascade Range, and what American has not looked forward from the days of the geography class in school to the time when those great sights should be seen in reality? The time was never so favorable as now. The trip may be made less expensive than ever. For only a slight difference in fare tourists may extend their trip to San Francisco and Los Angeles. The return trip may be made over a different route, enabling travelers to view much more of the west. For full particulars, fares, dates of special excursions to Portland on account of conventions, through time and passenger service apply to ticket agent of Pennsylvania Lines.

WOODMEN

Having a Magnificent Time at Milwaukee.

A communication from Milwaukee states that the Woodmen are having a great time. The crowd is probably the largest Milwaukee ever entertained and they are there from all parts of the country. Thirty-five thousand were there Monday evening.

The Foresters are at Camp Hawes at the outskirts of the city, but within easy reach of the business district by electric car line. The Gore drill team of this city is comfortably located in camp and the boys fully expect to bring home some of the prize money. The rain Sunday night made Camp Hawes somewhat muddy but that condition did not last long. The Seymour boys are happy and expect a great week of pleasure.

There will be a strong plea for rate revision but what the outcome will be no one knows at this time.

Several cities are striving hard for the honor of entertaining the next biennial convention. Buffalo, Cincinnati and Peoria are in the lead but Louisville, Los Angeles and Detroit are putting forth their claims energetically and might form a combination that would finally control.

Suit Against Papers.

The following clippings from the Brown County Democrat are significant:

"Cox & Hord, attorneys of Columbus, have been employed by Michael A. Locke, publisher Herald of that city, to defend that paper in the libel suit wherein Shelby Hedrick, town clerk of Nashville, is plaintiff."

"The law firm of Duncan & Bateman, of Bloomington has been employed to defend the Courier of that city in the libel suit which will be filed by Shelby Hedrick, of Nashville."

"Shelby Hedrick and Lawyer Long went to Columbus Monday on business connected with Mr. Hedrick's libel suit against city daily papers."

These suits grow out of a sensational article published in several papers about Shelby Hedrick, the town clerk of Nashville, alleging that he was mentally unbalanced when such an assertion was wholly untrue, as Mr. Hedrick is now and has been for years one of the leading citizens of Nashville. It is said that other papers not yet named will also be sued for libel.

The Rev. U. G. At the close of the services he received congratulations from many of the members on his release from imprisonment.

Last night Mr. Sutherland preached at Greenville and during the coming week he will visit the two charges in Scott county, of which he was pastor at the time of his arrest six weeks ago.—New Albany Tribune.

NO FEE TO FISH

In Michigan, the Mecca This Year of Indiana Tourists as in Years Past.

Positive information received from Michigan authorities states there is no truth whatever in a report that an annual fee of $25 or any other fee is to be imposed on non-resident fishermen in Michigan. A rumor of such a law having been passed in Michigan is stamped as absolutely without foundation. The origin of this false report is traced to talk current last winter when a question was raised in legislative proceedings concerning the subject, but no action taken, legislators not deeming such a measure advisable. Nothing further has been done, and tourists from Indiana are assured that they need not forego their customary outing to Michigan resorts this summer on the score of being confronted by a tax collector, for there are none such to bar the way. Judging from the many inquiries already received by W. W. Richardson, Assistant General Passenger Agent of the Pennsylvania Lines, Indianapolis, regarding Michigan resorts and the famous fishing there will be more than the usual number of Indiana tourists enjoy their summer outings to those health and pleasure havens where either hay fever nor fishing fees exist.

H. RIDER HAGGARD.

by the Salvation Army, was issued as a parliamentary blue-book last evening. The report speaks in the most favorable terms of the settlements, and says that similar settlements might be successfully established in the colonies as a means of providing for the surplus agricultural population of the United Kingdom in different parts of the empire, especially in Canada, where according to a letter received from Sir Wilfrid Laurier, premier of Canada, the government is prepared to set aside 240,000 acres for this purpose.

Quality vs. Quantity.

Hard muscles and strong body do not depend on the quantity of food you eat, but on its perfect digestion and proper assimilation. It digests what you eat regardless of the conditions of the stomach and conveys the nutrient properties to the blood and tissues. This builds up and strengthens the entire system. Kodol cures indigestion, dyspepsia, belching, sour stomachs, weak heart, etc. Sold by A. J. Pellens and W. F. Peter Drug Co.

Two Dyspeptics

If you are too fat it is because your food turns to fat instead of muscle—strength. If you are too lean the fat-producing foods that you eat are not properly digested and assimilated.

Lean, thin, stringy people do not have enough Pepsin in the stomach, while fat people have too much Pepsin and not enough Pancreatine.

Kodol

contains all the digestive juices that are found in a healthy stomach, and in exactly those proportions necessary to enable the stomach and digestive organs to digest and assimilate all foods that may be eaten. Kodol is not only a perfect digestant, but it is a reconstructive, tissue building tonic as well. Kodol cures Indigestion, Dyspepsia, Sour Stomach, Heartburn, Palpitation of the Heart and Constipation. You will like it.

Digests What You Eat

Rests the stomach, rebuilds the tissues and gives firm flesh.

AN OLD GAME

Blackmail Attempted on Prominent Columbus Manufacturer.

Columbus, O., June 20.—The Columbus police are mystified by an attempt to blackmail Dr. S. B. Hartman, a millionaire manufacturer. On June 12 Dr. Hartman received an unsigned letter in which it was stated that three persons had entered into an agreement to burn his property by Sunday night unless $10,000 was deposited in a secluded spot in the outskirts of the city, which was designated in the letter. Arrangements were made Sunday to catch the miscreants, but the scheme fell through. There is no clue to the would-be blackmailers.

PLUCKY YOUNG GIRL

Bertha Quintance of Mishawaka Resists Two Burglars.

Mishawaka, Ind., June 20.—Miss Bertha Quintance, a plucky young girl, proved herself a heroine by her fight with two burglars who were looting the home of her parents.

In a desperate struggle with one of them, who held watches, money and silverware, she was knocked unconscious by blows upon the head and chest, but her plucky fight forced the burglar to surrender some of the booty. The parents, returning home at this juncture, found Miss Quintance in an unconscious state, with a gold watch grasped in each hand. The intruders had escaped.

Good Corn Weather.

Alexandria, Ind., June 20.—"How fast is corn growing?" a much-discussed question, has been definitely settled in one case by Lawrence Hollowell, an observant farmer, south of the city, who has been making careful measurements. He finds that it is averaging one and a half inches every twenty-four hours, in a few cases doubling that rate, according to the location and soil.

Dangers of Acetylene.

Goshen, Ind., June 20.—While E. B. Haul's barber shop at New Paris was filled with people an acetylene gas pipe burst near the ceiling, filling the room with flame. Two plate glass windows were blown across the street and the mirrors were shattered. All the furniture was practically destroyed. Patrons in the chairs had their hair singed and their beards burned off.

Crestfallen Detectives.

Evansville, Ind., June 20.—Local detectives drove several miles into the country to arrest Fred Williams, wanted on an alleged felony charge. They met Williams near the house where the latter worked, and not knowing him, told him to guard their rig while they went in search of the fugitive. Williams drove away with the rig and is believed to have escaped into Kentucky.

Released From Heavy Bond.

Vincennes, Ind., June 20.—The motion filed on the first day of the court term, calling for the release of L. A. Meyer, attorney, who shot and killed Colonel A. J. Taylor in a sensational street shooting affray two months ago, has been favorably acted upon and his bondsmen in $500,000 were released from further liability as sureties.

ATTACK ON AN OFFICER

Town Marshal of Montezuma Assaulted by a Party of Roughs and Badly Beaten.

Assailants Deliberately Planned the Attack to Get Rid of Officer.

Montezuma, Ind., June 20.—After a series of lawless acts a party of men from across the Wabash river came here and attempted to put George Adams, marshal of this town, out of business. John and William McCarty, Al Mitchell, Ed Wright and William McLaughlin acted as if they courted a collision with the authorities, and they soon attracted the attention of Marshal Adams, who attempted to secure their withdrawal. Unsuspecting of danger, he approached, only to be disarmed and badly beaten, and he was thrown over a low iron fence. Meanwhile McLaughlin had drawn a revolver and was threatening to use it, when Mr. Kay, of the Marion brick plant, kicked the weapon out of his hand. The assailants of the marshal attempted to escape, but he succeeded in capturing one of the McCartys, who was fined a total of $16.50. Warrants were then issued for the remaining four defendants, and altogether they paid $80 into the town treasury.
